BBC Scotlandshire is proud to announce that, after two months of public voting and the emergence of several very strong contenders for the Anti-Scottishness awards, this year's prestigious Union of Scottish Unionist Quislings (USUQ) award has been awarded to none other than Glasgow Council leader, Gordon Matheson.

Gordon can add this wonderful USUQ award to the Local Politician of the year Award given to him in 2012 by the Herald Newspaper. It will look lovely on his mantlepice when he's poking the grate.

Sadly, Cllr Matheson is unable to accept the USUQ award in person as he has taken a vow to keep his mouth closed in public, from now on, we understand. However, Gordon did make this short film for us earlier: "Mmmm nmm mmm um gobble gobble mm nmm umm nmm mmm! Chap, chap, chap. Gulp. Cough. Yes officer - how can I help you?"

Fortunately, we have fellow Glasgow Labour councillor Seezat Broon-Envelope who will accept the award on Gordon's behalf. Seezat...

"Good evening ladies and gentlemen. I am very proud indeed to be accepting this USUQ award on behalf of my friend and colleague, nay mentor, and exemplary leader of Glasgow Council, George Matheson.

"What Can I say about Gordon? First, he is a true unionist. He not only preaches that we are Better Together, but he practices it as well, particularly at the weekend after a few nippy sweeties (laughs).

But it is as a SLAB politician that Gordon really excels. He not only screws THE public in Glasgow, but he screws IN public in Glasgow as well. That's what I call a true Labour leader.
